In depth

Supporting the construction of a system of intercultural justice in Peru: an example of a “country strategy”.

Peru is a heterogeneous country with a rural population of 6.5 million people (24% of the total population), the great majority of which (60.3%) live in poverty.

This rural population, most of it indigenous, lives in the least accessible parts of the country and has limited access to the State justice services. The Judiciary and the Ministry of Justice assumed a series of political commitments (national and international) oriented towards providing access to justice to vulnerable people living in rural areas; promoting legal pluralism and recognition of indigenous justice; regulation of inter-regional coordination; and strengthening of the justice of the peace.

EUROsociAL is supporting this process through several actions and has promoted the creation of three complementary protocols approved between 2013 and 2014:

- An inter-regional coordination protocol to establish mechanisms for resolving disputes
- a jurisdictional action protocol to guarantee the rights of the indigenous population
- a protocol for providing attention and legal guidance for the purpose of improving conditions of access to justice for indigenous peoples.

The enactment of these instruments will promote and guarantee access to justice and effective protection of the rights of this highly vulnerable population through an system of intercultural justice in Peru. This enables EUROsociAL to guarantee consistency between its actions in the justice area in Peru and articulate a genuine “country strategy”.
